DETAILED ACTION

Inventorship

1. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 1, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Seto et al. (5,560,888) in view of Komatsu et al. (US 2002/0031844). Seto teaches an incubator for a biochemical apparatus. The device is best shown in Figures 4, 5 and 13. It includes upper block (61), lower block (45), heater (48) that contacts both blocks, and cover (46) with insulating materials (51 and 52) having a recess (opening #59). The upper block and lower block are brought into contact to hold and incubate an analysis slide. The Examiner considers the optical element (16) to be a potential measuring probe next to the block. Seto does not teach a lower block that is movable toward and away from the upper block.

Komatsu teaches a biochemical apparatus. The apparatus includes an incubator for holding a dry analysis element. The incubator is best shown in Figures 13 and 14 and described in paragraphs [0109]-[0119] and [0125]-[0127]. The incubator includes a lower plate (275) that may be raised and lowered by an elevating mechanism (276). The elevating mechanism also brings the analyzing elements into contact with the dry analysis element through openings in the lower plate. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to combine the movable lower plate from Komatsu with the incubator of Seto. One would provide a movable lower plate to provide the maximum compression contact for the dry analysis element held between the two heating blocks as well as to put the analyzing probe in contact with the analysis element.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments, filed, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) under USC 102 involving the Seto, Arai, Sugaya, and Handique references have been fully considered and are persuasive. Those references do not teach a lower block that is movable toward and away from the upper block as required by the amended claims. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of Seto in view of Komatsu.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
